Invitation to the SOI-Day on Saturday January 11, 2020

We cordially invite you to this year's SOI-Day at ETH Zurich. At this event, the results of the first round of the SOI will be presented and prizes will be awarded to the most skilled competitors. There will be an interesting talk by Simon Jeger, Teamleader of Dipper, an ETH research project on constructing an aircraft with the ability to transition between airflight and underwater exploration. Furthermore there will be a talk by Derek Bradley on Digital Humans at Disney Research. An additional highlight is the long-awaited „soiway"-tournament for the creativity task.

Attached you can find the detailed schedule of the day. Please register as soon as possible on https://soi.ch/s/soiday2020. We are looking forward to welcoming you at SOI-Day. Feel free to invite your friends to come along and share your interest in computer science!

On behalf of the SOI organisers
